Robert Mash read Zoology at Balliol College, Oxford, and researched Animal Behaviour there with Nobel Laureate Niko Tinbergen. His bestselling book, How To Keep Dinosaurs, was published in 1983 by Andre Deutsch, with a second edition published by Weidenfeld and Nicolson in 2003. He has appeared on several television programmes, and recently acted as a consultant for a BBC Horizon programme on dinosaurs, My Pet Dinosaur. He is married, with one son, and lives in Dorset, England. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

I bought this for my grandson's 8th birthday. He loves dinosaurs and knows the names of each and every one. It was a huge hit with him so the big price was worth it for me. He especially loved the posters and immediately laid on the floor with the poster of a jaw to compare his height and size to that of the jaw. I was a little surprised it was used but in good condition. Luckily I was able to cover a previous inscription. I'd recommend this book to any child who has a great love and interest in dinosaurs.

My daughter is a dinosaur fanatic. Her teacher has this book and she had to have it!

Interactive and my son loved it!

Son love this book

I received this book in fantastic time, and it was really a very pleasant surprise. It has photos of fossils, and is so well written that anyone would be able to enjoy the book. I highly recommend this book for its pictures, photos of fossils, and basic great information. The book did not have the 2 posters that came with the book, but I am confident the seller will send me the two posters, as this is a great book, received in great shape. Buy this one!!

purchased book for 7 and 9 yr old brothers who have studied dinosaurs since they were 2. Christmas Eve it was an all WOW gift as they turned the pages.

Great book for children and those young at heart! This book includes two full size posters too.

Grandson loved it
