Saying Pie Do (A Patty Cakes Bake Shop Cozy Mystery Series Book 6)

Synopsis

Everyone is dying for pie. Bakery owner Joy Cooke is hired to cater a book launch party for a bestselling mystery author, and the menu of desserts stretches from pecan pie to a wedding cake display. But when Joy's client learns her furry companion was found dead just like a character in her book, Joy discovers that someone wants revenge. And the book launch is the perfect place to strike. With the help of a spacy assistant and a fluffy cat named Cheesecake, Joy sets out to find the killer. Her list of suspects includes a suspicious book club President, a pet psychic, and much more. Will Joy solve the case before she too is sliced like a pecan pie?

Customer Reviews

This is a clean little cozy mystery. It is very different from the other mysteries I have read. A dog gets murdered instead of a person. It is a little draggy at times, but if you like a good clean story, this is the book for you.

A great light read. Catering a book events hours have gone smoothly until the author's dog is murdered. Why would someone pick on a dog? Is the death linked to the plot in the book as the author states? Can our intrepid baker sort out the myriad of suspects to get to the killer and the motive? Terrific cozy.

Good plot, interesting characters, brought old history and events between two characters to make the plot happen. Recipes would be nice!

the death of a dog starts a mystery that continues to bring the way one big name writer to be less than she should be.

Now off to buy the book. I'm getting into the series so will most likely buy the whole series. Great relaxing reading
